January 24, 2020

Important Notes: This week we finished a lot of important mid year testing. The students were very patient and worked hard!

Reading: We will be reading The Quilt Story and discussing comparing and contrasting. We will practice not just using a Venn Diagram, but doing a written comparison.

Spelling: Monday we will be taking a pretest, and students who miss only one word will have the option to do the Challenge list. Words will be: ankle, title, apple, cable, purple, able, bugle, bundle, bubble, giggle, sparkle, and tickle.

Math: This week we worked on measurement, including measuring and drawing lengths in centimeters. Next week we will continue measuring, including using addition to add two measurements. (see pictures below!)

Language/Writing: This week, students have continued to work on their informational animal books. They are doing fantastic! We learned about making a table of contents and headings for each set of facts. We are continuing with verbs in language.

Social Studies/Science: Next week we start our unit on Matter. We will be discussing different properties of matter, as well as how different items are made with certain properties for a reason.

Upcoming Dates:

Feb 4th- We will be celebrating the 100th day of school. More info to follow!

Feb 14th- Valentine's Day- We will be exchanging valentines as a class.
 ~Students are welcome to bring in a decorated box/container from home to collect valentines in. Otherwise, I will have white paper bags that students can decorate at school if they do not bring a box in from home.
 ~As part of our celebration that day, we will be doing an ice cream party with third grade! More details will follow next week, as well as info on a list of toppings if you would be willing to sign up to send your child with something to add to our ice cream.

*Feb 20th- Noon Release

*Feb 21- No School Teacher PD
